

Abstract

A apparatus having layers. A first layer has a conductive adhesive region and a non-conductive adhesive region. A second layer has an electronic component in electrical connection to the conductive adhesive regions in the first 5 layer so that the conductive adhesive regions provide contact points for the electronic component. A third layer has an adhesive material to couple the apparatus to an object. A forth layer substantially covers the third layer.